WHO WE ARE

We are a Nonprofit Organization about Corporate Social Responsibility Communication. CSR communication is understood as a “holistic communicative approach” dealing with today's societal challenges organizations are facing. With high levels of sensitivity of various stakeholders to social and environmental issues attention given to CSR and communicating about it has reached top-level importance in nearly all types of organizations. In the light of increased importance of CSR on the one hand but also skepticism on the other, transparent and credible CSR communication is ever more important and challenging.

WHAT WE DO

We communicate the needs and achievements, identify the opportunities and educate the community, public and private sector towards living on a society of good practices, ethical behavior and good governance. We are strongly committed in improving education, entrepreneurship and volunteering. We aim to impact mostly the young generation to grow into ethical, responsible and valuable citizens, build a successful life for themselves and contribute to the society. We make sure the public and private sector can demonstrate clear policies and responsible practices in areas such as human rights, working conditions, ethics and environmental issues.
